

Executive Updates from the Office of the VP Administration (Sept. 30th)

☐ Clubs

- New club applications are live on CampusBase and will be open until September 30th. Given the increase in resources (videoconferencing grant, new club start-up fund etc.) being made available by the AMS to AMS Clubs, we expect to have a good number of applicants and our team is looking forward to the many wonderful ideas that will be shaping the lives of our AMS Members in the years to come.
- Club Days Stats:
 - 650 unique visitors to the fair (not including group officers)
 - 1759 booth visits
 - 119 participating organizations

Clubs Days happened this past week with the above stats indicating the level of engagement we had. Unfortunately, it was not up to par with our Imagine Day engagement (which was the largest virtual fair ever organized on CampusGroups) partly because Imagine Day happened not too long ago but also because now our clubs are more accessible than ever, limiting the need for such an event.

☐ Hatch

- Our first exhibition has been a great success and our team is eager to show the many other initiatives we have in stall for the exhibitions that are yet to follow. To find out more, take a look at our hatch website: <https://www.hatchartgallery.com/>

☐ Sustainability

- Our first AMS Sustainability Symposium is happening on Friday, October 2nd from 4PM - 5:30PM. All councillors are encouraged to promote this event to their various student societies in hopes of increasing awareness and the turn out of the event.

❑ AMS Canvas Course

- We are currently exploring the possibility of creating an AMS Course on canvas that will have all AMS Members enrolled and will be an additional avenue through which the society can engage with its members. Mainly, this course will target various aspects of the organization that we would love to further promote and make more accessible, with some preliminary ideas revolving around the following:
 - An organizational chart that clearly describes the role of the AMS in our student community along with the services and offerings that come with being a member. This way, students will have our organizational know-how readily available to them, thereby closing some knowledge gaps currently in existence between students and staff/councillors of the AMS.
 - One-page policy manuals that summarize AMS policies into easily digestible information, making it simpler for students to understand and identify the various services and protocols in place at the AMS.
 - Training modules from our AMS Services and SASC departments that replicate the various in-person workshops currently available through these services. We will also be collaborating with other organizations (eg. SVPRO) that have different service offerings from what we have here at the AMS.
 - Again, these are currently preliminary ideas and hence, any and all considerations are welcome!
