Should any of the relevant parties not be informed, those which have received notice shall forward the request to those who have not received it expeditiously.
2. Upon receiving a consultation opportunity from the University, the Vice President, Academic and University Affairs shall decide, alongside the Policy Advisor and representation from the other relevant stakeholder(s), whether the AMS wishes to respond to the consultation opportunity.
3. Should the AMS decide not to respond, a brief document shall be prepared detailing the reason why the consultation opportunity was declined. This document shall be filed alongside responses to other tuition consultations and retained for reference.

 - a. The Vice President, Academic and University Affairs shall consult and meet with relevant stakeholders as necessary, within 7 days of notification of the consultation opportunity. Meetings established for this purpose should include historical precedent, provided by the Vice President, Academic and University Affairs as well as an opportunity for the stakeholders to share their perspective so that the AMS may more effectively represent their views.

History:

This is the second version of the policy, having been amended to reflect the timeline and changes in the Tuition Consultation policy and for housekeeping changes to reflect Policy 71 being changed to Policy LR4.

The policy results from a report presented to AMS Council by the Engineering Undergraduate Society in the spring of 2017 regarding the tuition proposal for the proposed Bachelor of Applied Science in Biomedical Engineering. While this proposal ultimately did not come to fruition, the AMS is taking many of the recommendations from this report and other tuition consultation experiences to formulate a more comprehensive internal policy for the AMS itself and its constituencies.
