SECTION IX A: ELECTORAL PROCEDURES

Article 9. Constituency Elections and Referenda

3. Provided that at least one internal appeal has taken place within a Constituency, the Elections Committee shall rule on the validity of a Constituency election or referendum and on any decisions made by that Constituency’s election officials if requested to do so by an Active Member of that Constituency. This provision notwithstanding, a request may be made to the Elections Committee without a previous internal appeal in a Constituency if such an appeal would not take place before the results are finalized or if the Elections Committee determines that it would be unreasonable to wait.
